WELCOME

It is our great pleasure to welcome industry partners to the AI & Digital Pathology Summit, held within the 1st Symposium in Pathology and Molecular Genetics.

We firmly believe that meaningful innovation in pathology depends on close collaboration between clinicians, researchers, and industry. This Summit has therefore been designed as a platform not only for knowledge exchange, but also for demonstration, interaction, and engagement with tools that are shaping the future of the field.

One of the goals of this event is to provide healthcare professionals with direct exposure to the leading digital pathology and artificial intelligence solutions currently available on the market. By creating opportunities to explore, compare, and understand these technologies, we aim to foster their effective adoption and practical implementation in real-world clinical settings.

Your participation is essential in bridging the gap between technology and clinical practice. By showcasing your solutions and engaging with end-users, you play a key role in accelerating the translation of innovation into improved diagnostic workflows and patient care.

We look forward to your contribution!
